Purpose of the role

To live in a client's home for an agreed placement and provide safe, kind, person-centred care in line with their care plan, so that they can remain at home with their own routines and the company they enjoy.

Main duties and responsibilities

Care

- Provide personal care (washing, dressing, continence, skin and oral care) with dignity and to the client's own routine.
- Prompt or administer medication as set out in the care plan and eMAR, record every dose in the Access Care Planning app, and report any error, refusal or missed dose to the office the same day.
- Plan, shop for and prepare the client's meals to their preferences and any dietary or swallowing needs; encourage fluids.
- Support mobility and transfers as assessed, using the client's equipment; never lift manually or single-handed where two are required.
- Recognise and report changes in condition, falls, pressure damage, infection, low mood or confusion, and act on them without delay.
- Provide companionship: conversation, activities, outings and appointments shaped around what matters to the client.

Household

- Keep the client's living areas clean and tidy, do their laundry and light housekeeping.
- Not required: DIY or maintenance, heavy cleaning, gardening, pet care beyond what the care plan records, or cooking and housekeeping for other members of the household or visitors.

Nights

- Sleep in the private bedroom provided. Respond to one night-time call of up to an hour, which falls within the agreed daily average.
- Record every night-time call in the app so that the office can review the arrangement if nights become regularly disturbed.

Records, communication and handover

- Keep clear, factual daily notes in the app; complete a written handover for the next Care Professional.

- Keep in touch with the office, the family, the GP, district nurses and 111 as needs change, respecting the client's choices, privacy and independence.
- Attend welfare calls and supervisor visits during the placement and raise concerns early.

Safeguarding, conduct and compliance

- Recognise abuse and neglect and report any concern immediately to the office or, out of hours, to on-call.
- Follow Otter Homecare's policies, including on gifts and payments, confidentiality, recording devices, alcohol and visitors during a placement.
- Take the two-hour daily break; tell the office if it is prevented.
- Complete mandatory training and keep medication competency, DBS update-service registration and right-to-work evidence current.

Working pattern

Placements normally last two to four weeks and are offered with dates, the client's needs and the household described, before the Care Professional decides. Each placement has an agreed daily average of eight to ten hours of care, set at assessment and reviewed before the end of the first fortnight. A two-hour uninterrupted daily break away from the client is a condition of every placement, with cover arranged by Otter Homecare where the client cannot safely be left. A private bedroom, and access to the bathroom, kitchen, laundry and Wi-Fi, are conditions of every placement. A supervisor attends the handover on the first day and visits during the placement; on-call support is available around the clock.
